The kids will be here for five weeks to enjoy life with a family, experience summer camp, and meet new people. You can have the opportunity to change a life this summer – maybe even your own. We are inviting anyone interested in adoption to our upcoming orientations to learn how they can host a child this summer.

WHO:

- Local families who are interested in adoption or interested in advocating for the adoption of an older orphan.
- Kidsave is a volunteer-driven effort to help older, orphan children find families. This program is the only chance for many children to have a permanent family. Kidsave will provide training and support to the participating families. We collaborate with social workers, home study agencies, child welfare advocates, health professionals and government officials to find safe, appropriate families for these children.
